

Delta launches daily nonstop service from KIX to Seattle

Kansai Airports is pleased to announce that Delta Air Lines will offer new daily flights between Kansai International Airport (KIX) and Seattle starting April 2, 2019.

The move—a revival of service on the route after six years of absence since winter 2013—will expand our portfolio of services, making Seattle the fourth North American destination from KIX.

Carrying more than 180 million customers each year across its broad global network, Delta will be offering direct access to yet another U.S. city from KIX on top of the existing Honolulu route.

The new service will be operated with a Boeing 767-300ER outfitted with 225 seats, including 25 business class seats. Every seat has access to Wi-Fi, a personal in-flight seatback entertainment screen and power ports.

Kansai Airports will continue to seek to provide expanded air travel network, including mid-to long-haul routes, thereby offering a convenient, comfortable and enjoyable experience for all passengers.

Kansai Airports was established by a consortium made up of VINCI Airports and ORIX Corporation as its core members. Kansai Airports took over the operations of Kansai International Airport (“KIX”) and Osaka International Airport (“ITAMI”) from New Kansai International Airport Company (“NKIAC”) and has been operating the two airports since April 1, 2016.

Kansai Airports Kobe, Kansai Airports’ wholly-owned subsidiary, took over the operations of Kobe Airport (“KOBE”) from Kobe City and started its business as an operating company on April 1, 2018.

Under the concept of “One Kansai Airports Group”, Kansai Airports group strives to continuously improve its services for all airport guests through appropriate investments and efficient operations, with safety and security being the top priority. Kansai Airports group aims to maximize the potential of the three airports, for the benefit of the communities they serve.
