Kansai Airports (HQ: Izumisano-shi, Osaka / Representative Director CEO: Yoshiyuki Yamaya, Representative Director Co-CEO: Emmanuel Menanteau) and Sumitomo Mitsui Card Company Limited (HQ: Minatok-ku, Tokyo / President: Ken Kubo) will jointly start accepting contactless payments with “Visa payWave”^{*1} and “Mastercard® contactless”^{*2} at KIX beginning Friday June 30, 2017. KIX will be the first airport in Japan to introduce this payment service at all airport facilities.*³

Located in Japan’s second largest economic zone and in close vicinity to Kansai’s major tourist cities, many foreign and domestic customers use KIX as the best gateway to Kansai for sightseeing and business. In order to provide an environment where customers can enjoy shopping and meals at KIX more easily and conveniently, we have introduced various payment services with credit cards and electronic money affiliated to transport organizations.

Over 25 million passengers went through KIX in FY2016 and approximately two-thirds are foreign visitors. KIX has been striving to expand its services to accommodate the diverse needs of these foreign passengers. As the number of foreign visitors is expected to increase even further with the international sporting events, etc. to be held in Japan in the future, we decided to introduce this payment service which is increasingly popular among foreign customers.

Diverse payment solutions which can flexibly meet customers’ payment needs will make their airport shopping and dining experiences more convenient. Kansai International Airport will continue working with relevant operators to provide more convenient services to our customers, so that they can enjoy every minute of their time at the airport.
