

Welcome back to KIX events held as part of Kansai Inbound Tourism Revival Plan

Kansai Airports today announced that it will hold Welcome back to KIX events targeting foreign passengers flying through Kansai International Airport (KIX), as part of *Kansai Inbound Tourism Revival Plan developed by Japan Tourism Agency.

On September 21, the terminal buildings fully reopened despite severe damage KIX sustained from the typhoon on September 4. Flight numbers have returned back to almost 100% of the pre-typhoon level and passengers have been flying on the normal schedule.

As a gateway to Kansai and Japan, Kansai International Airport continues to welcome foreign travelers and promote tourism in Kansai.

Kansai Inbound Tourism Revival Plan* is a project to revive tourism in Kansai and welcome back foreign travelers to the region by inviting them to "know", "fly to", "travel around" and "enjoy" Kansai, in cooperation with many stakeholders in the tourism industry such as Japan National Tourism Organization, airlines, travel agents, airports in Kansai, public transportation operators, retail stores and restaurants.

Kansai Airports was established by a consortium made up of VINCI Airports and ORIX Corporation as its core members. Kansai Airports took over the operations of Kansai International Airport (“KIX”) and Osaka International Airport (“ITAMI”) from New Kansai International Airport Company (“NKIAC”) and has been operating the two airports since April 1, 2016.

Kansai Airports Kobe, Kansai Airports’ wholly-owned subsidiary, took over the operations of Kobe Airport (“KOBE”) from Kobe City and started its business as an operating company on April 1, 2018.

Under the concept of “One Kansai Airports Group”, Kansai Airports group strives to continuously improve its services for all airport guests through appropriate investments and efficient operations, with safety and security being the top priority. Kansai Airports group aims to maximize the potential of the three airports, for the benefit of the communities they serve.
