

KIX, ITAMI, and KOBE to share joint video message to mark 2020 Sky Day

Kansai Airports Group is delighted to announce that, a Sky Day video message will be delivered in collaboration among the three airports it operates—Kansai International Airport (KIX), Osaka International Airport (ITAMI), and Kobe Airport (KOBE).

Organized by the Sky Day and Sky Season Committee, the initiative commemorates the Sky Day on September 20, the day established in 1992 by the government to increase public understanding of aviation, which is followed by the 10-day Sky Season through September 30.

The video is a collaborative work of airport operations staff including the Civil Aviation Bureau, airlines, and ground handlers to help the public learn more about aviation. And, in a difficult time like this, it especially aims to reassure travelers that COVID-19 precautions are being taken and it is safe to fly again.

The airport experience is an enjoyable part of a journey. Keeping this in mind, Kansai Airports Group remains committed to ensuring, in cooperation with its partners, that passengers feel safe and comfortable throughout their journey.
