

Japan Transocean Air to resume flights between Kansai and Miyako in April 2021

Kansai Airports is pleased to announce that starting April 29, 2021, Japan Transocean Air will resume flights between Kansai International Airport (KIX) and Miyako Airport for the first time in nine years since 2012.

Miyako Island, a beautiful resort island, is one of the most popular tourist destinations in Japan. In 2015, Irabu Bridge opened, connecting Miyako Island to Irabu Island. With this improved ground access, Miyako Island offers increased opportunities and experiences for visitors. Furthermore, with new resort facilities being developed, the island is expected to attract more visitors in the coming years.

Kansai Airports is committed to expanding its aviation network to deliver a more convenient, comfortable, and pleasant travel experience for airport guests.
